Strength A

Heavy straight-leg calf raises — 3×10

Soleus raises — 4×15

Bulgarian split squats — 3×8 each leg

Single-leg RDLs — 3×8 each side

Step-ups — 3×10 each leg

Push-ups — 3×8–15 (chest, triceps, core stability)

w/ 3 core + 3 posterior

Strength B

Walking lunges — 3×12 each leg

Romanian deadlifts — 3×8

Dumbbell overhead press — 3×6–10 (shoulders, arm swing stability)

Hamstring sliders/single leg glute bridge — 3×10/3x8

Copenhagen planks — 3×20–30 sec

Wide leg squats

Plyometrics (2 choices: pogos/skipping/hops/bounds) — 2–3 sets

w/ 3 core + 3 posterior

Core

Dead bugs — 3×10 each side

Side planks (with or without leg lift) — 3×30–45 sec each side

Reverse crunch — 3×10–15 reps

Plank shoulder taps — 3×16–20

Hollow body hold — 3×20–40 sec

Plank hold — 2–3×45–60 sec (core stiffness under fatigue)

Posterior Chain

Banded monster walks

Banded leg lifts (all directions)

Banded hip flexor lifts

Banded lying side leg lifts

Banded clamshells

Straight leg lifts (seated or standing)

Weekly Structure

Mon	Strength A + optional recovery jog
Tue	Workout
Wed	Easy miles
Thu	Medium-long	on road, need musculoskeletal adaptation to repetitive impact
Fri	Strength B + optional easy run
Sat	Easy miles
Sun	Long	Every second or third long run should include marathon pace blocks, start fueling now

MP = Marathon Pace

Focus

sustained steady pacing road-specific leg resilience marathon fueling practice efficient aerobic running

Fueling

Practice taking carbs every 30–35 min
Aim eventually for 60–90 g carbs/hour
Practice drinking while running Practice race breakfast repeatedly Marathon breakfast

2–3 hours before: full breakfast (main fuel)
30–60 min before (optional): small top-up if needed (banana, half bar, sports drink)

Phases

			adapt to road load build mileage gradually keep strength consistent
Phase 1	4 weeks	Base building + 1	improve marathon pace efficiency increase aerobic durability
Phase 2	10 weeks	Marathon build	practice fueling practice fueling muscular fatigue resistance
Phase 3	5 weeks	Peak marathon s	pace discipline reduce fatigue
Phase 4	3 weeks	Taper	keep intensity

To try

bagel + peanut butter and banana

granola + yoghurt + fruit

boiled eggs + english muffin

Strength

2× per week
goal is durability and efficiency, not bodybuilding
